I first read this book around the age of 20. My mother had purchased it. I already believed in re-incarnation because I had two clear memories of my own,....since childhood, of a nature no child of 3 or 4 could possibly dream or fantasize about. (yet my mother had always told me they were 'dreams' when I tried to talk to her about them) So,....at 20-ish,....here she suddenly had this book. I was a young bride, married to an adoring husband who had proposed to me the first time he saw me,....he'd explained "Something told me to look toward the door,....so I turned away from the person I was talking with and looked to the door, you came through a moment later,....and suddenly through my mind flashed the thought 'That's the girl I'm going to marry !!'... He said he felt a flood of love rush through him as he quickly made his way to my side, to introduce himself,....he already seemed (felt he knew) everything important about me,....but my name (now) He proposed just as quickly as he was able to,....but had to spend the next 8 months trying to convince me it was Real love and he wasn't crazy,....(it wasn't lust,....I was a plain mouse compared to his ravishing girlfriend who he dropped without an explanation) So, two years later I was to read my mother's book, about Bridey Murphy,....AT LAST,....Something Solid to confirm my own memories,....and explain the new husband's instant recognition of me, and subsequent proposal,.....he had 'remembered' me, not with his eyes, but with his soul (and the things he felt he 'already knew about me',...ALL proved to be true,....things he had No Way of 'knowing' on mere observation,....much less a flash recognition. 4 years after (I'd read the book) he decided to tell me that if there was ANYTHING to what I believed in,....
