Dr. Maurer is a practicing Naturopathic doctor, as well as a teacher and a coach in your journey to achieve your ultimate point in health. He researches constantly and has a well-rounded knowledge of naturopathic and allopathic medicine, as well as of the chemical components and effects of pharmaceutical products on the body. This is not a fad diet book or come-on that goes on about why it's the best thing out there. It digs right into the reasons why your body works the way it does and the mapping of blood panels to help you understand and find your place in nonhealth and addresses how you can achieve your place in health. And Dr. Maurer's enthusiasm and compassion as an advocate for true health really comes through in his book. Read this book if you have prediabetes, diabetes, or hypothyroidism, or are just seeking a way to better health, and you are prepared to make positive changes in your life. Dr. Maurer gives you the user guide, shows you the tools, and you do the work. Well worth the read and effort and don't get tripped up by the blood work panel explanations, you can work those out later when you have your panels done. Just read the whole book through and begin your journey down the path to health. Update: I have been following the principles of the book based on my hypothyroid metabolism since March of this year when I met with Dr. Maurer. With the exception of a few days, I have been doing some form of exercise every day rather than 3 days a week, to get my metabolism going. I have further reduced my carbs and increased fats (I am no longer hungry between meals now!
